USSR-Tanzania: The Tanzanians are considering a Soviet offer to provide several squadrons of MIG jet fighters over the next four years.

25X1

During the first stage the USSR would deliver [redacted] MIG-17s and [redacted] jet trainers. The Soviets plan to give some 300 Tanzanians 18 to 48 months of flight and maintenance training in the USSR. After most of the training has been completed [redacted] MIG-21s, would be delivered. [redacted]

The Soviet proposal is in response to Dar es Salaam's request for air defense assistance made last May. A Soviet Air Force team has already made a survey of existing air facilities within the country. Tanzania's small air force, which consists of transport and reconnaissance aircraft, is presently being trained and equipped by Canada [redacted]
